35. FUTURE CONTRACT AUTOMATIC ROLLING

Automatic Future Rolling is available for clients who wish to keep their trades open from the "current" contract to the "new" contract during the future contract expiration. Clients can avoid Future Contract automatic rolling by closing their open positions before 17:00 GMT on the expiration date.

All open positions on future contracts will be extended automatically to the next contract on the date of the expiration at 17:00 GMT unless client decide to close them before 17:00 GMT on the expiration date.

Automatic Future Contract Rolling Fee

A fee of 25% of the new contract spread will be charged for every single trade that will be automatically extended, using the below formulas for WEB and MT5 platform.

WEB: Contract Rolling Fee = #Contracts x New Contract Spread x 25%

MT5: Contract Rolling Fee = #Lots x Contract Size x New Contract Spread x 25%

Example:

WEB

For a Buy position on OILUSD of 1000 contracts the new contract quotes are BID / ASK / Spread 61.40 / 61.48 / 0.08

Contract Rolling Fee = $1000 \times 0.08 \times 25\% = 20$

Client fee will be $20.00 for this single future rolling.

MT5

For a Sell position on OILUSD of 0.5 lots the new contract quotes are BID / ASK / Spread 61.40 / 61.48 / 0.08

Rollover Fee = $0.5 \times 1000 \times 0.08 \times 25\% = 10$

Client fee will be $10.00 for this single future rolling.

In cases where quote currency is other than USD the same formula will be used and the final amount calculated will be converted to USD by the latest available rate.

Please note that if account equity level is close to Trade out level Trade out may occur due to the rollover fee.

Price Adjustments by Debits or Credits

Future contracts usually trade at higher or lower prices than the current contract, therefore the difference in price will appear as a credit or debit depends of the new contract price was unfavourable or favourable for the client respectively. In the rare case when the new contract price is the same with the current contract price no price adjustments will be made and only the relevant pre-mentioned fee will be applied on client's account. Thus, at the moment when the automatic rolling occur the equity of the client will not be affected from the price adjustment but only by the mentioned rolling fee.

-If the new contract is trading at a higher price than the expiring contract, long position (buy) will be charged negative (Debit) rolling adjustment and short position (sell) will be charged a positive (Credit) rolling adjustment

-If the new contract is trading at a lower price than the expiring contract, long positions (buy) will be charged positive (Credit) rolling adjustment and short position (sell) will be charged a negative (Debit) rolling adjustment.

- If the new contract is trading at the same price with the expiring contract, long positions (buy) and short position (sell) will be no charged with any rolling adjustment.

Below formulas are used to calculate the adjustment amount that will be debited or credited.

WEB

Sell / Short Trade

Adjustment = (New Contract Ask price – Current Contract Ask price) x #Contracts

Buy / Long Trade

Adjustment = (Current Contract Bid price – New Contract Bid price) x #Contracts

MT5

Sell / Short Trade

Adjustment = (New Contract Ask price – Current Contract Ask price) x #Lots x Contract Size

Buy / Long Trade

Adjustment = (Current Contract Bid price – New Contract Bid price) x #Lots x Contract Size

A credit will be added for Positive outcome and a debit will be charged for Negative outcome of the pre-mentioned formulas for both Web and MT5 platforms.

Orders price adjustment

Existing Stop Loss & Take Profit for both platforms WEB and MT5 placed on any future will be adjusted to symmetrically (point-for-point) reflect the price differences between the expiring contract and then new contract on expiration/rollover date at 17:00 GMT. For any WEB orders set in amount (USD) or percentage (%) their corresponding rate will be affected by the same way as those that were set on rate and consequently their amounts and percentages will be modified accordingly. Using the below formulas.

Sell / Short trades

SL Adjustment = New contract Ask rate – Current contract Ask rate

35. REAL STOCKS / SECURITIES SCOPE OF SERVICES

The Company offers its Clients direct access to the market for trading securities that are accessible only on the Company's MT5 platform. These services are offered through our financial intermediary (hereinafter "Saxo bank").

The present Client Agreement establishes the terms under which you can trade "Real Stocks" using "1Market" MT5 Platform. Be conscious(aware), prior to the use of Real stocks trading that the trading of Real Stocks is not suitable for everyone and by acknowledging the Terms of this Client Agreement, you fully understand such risks. A share (also known as equity or stock) is a security that represents the ownership of fraction of a corporation. This entitles the owner of the shares to a promotion of the corporation's assets and profits equal to how many shares they own. When you open a non-leveraged BUY (long) position on a security, you are investing in the underlying asset and the security is purchased in your name.

The same applies to fractional shares. What differentiates trading contracts for difference (CFDs) on stocks (Securities/shares) and direct trading on stocks (Securities/shares)/physical stocks is when you trade a CFD, you are speculating on a market's price without taking ownership of the underlying asset, whereas when you trade shares, you take ownership of the underlying securities. Thus, you can take advantage of leverage when trading CFDs, meaning you will only need to put up a fraction of the full value of the trade– the 'margin' – to gain full exposure.

This will magnify (amplify) any profits, but at the same time you may magnify any losses. When trading shares (physical stocks not CFDs), on the other hand, you must pay the full cost of your position upfront so you cannot lose more than you invest.

The value of stocks can fall as well as rise, which could mean getting back less capital than you invested.

Each transaction a client places is binding on them, even where they have exceeded any limit on our platform, and they must pay any sums due on any transaction immediately once the transaction has been executed.

The Client acknowledges that he/she is responsible to monitor their orders until they are confirmed or cancelled. The Company is not obliged to provide clients with explicit written notification. Kindly contact us if you are unsure about the status of an order.

Fees and costs section:

The Company does not charge commissions or fees for trading securities. Except the fact that the Client engaged in aggressive trading. In such case, the Company reserves the right and at its own discretion to charge any account commissions incurred as a result of aggressive cash equities/securities trading. Aggressive trading includes but is not limited to latency arbitrage, HFT/Algo activity and/or any trading activity that violates the Company's Terms and Conditions.

There is a cost for each transaction the Company executes on behalf of Clients, which is called a "spread". A spread is the difference between the sell and the buy price. The Company will determine the total amount of spread that applies each time the Client places an order. We cannot provide Clients with an exact amount, because the spread may change between the time they make an order, and the time the Company executes their order.

The spreads which we charge can be variable due to market conditions. For instant there may be circumstances when market conditions cause spreads to widen beyond the typical spreads shown on our website and/or platform(s).

When the Client trades in Real Stocks, all applicable fees, charges and taxes for that transaction will be deducted from his/her account at the time the transaction is executed. The security will be available for sale on your account prior to settlement of the transaction and your account will reflect this. In case the transaction fails to settle, the Company may reverse the transaction, return any fees, charges, and taxes for that transaction, and amend your account to reflect the same.

It is understood that there are circumstances beyond the control of the Company and hence in the event of our insolvency, you understand that you may not own the securities that you have bought on the 1Market platform, in cases where the settlement has not yet occurred, even if the bought securities are visible as available in your 1Market account. In these cases, you will be entitled to the amount that you paid for the securities, which will form part of your client money.

The Company has the duty to and shall exercise due skill, care, and diligence in the selection of the financial intermediary considering the Client's best interest. The Client acknowledges that it is responsibility of the Financial Intermediary (hereinafter "Saxo") to select the marketplace that ensures the best possible execution for the Clients.

The Client understands that our Financial Intermediary will execute the Client's Orders as an agent, unless otherwise confirmed. However, the Financial Intermediary is authorized to execute Client's Orders as a principal.

The Client accepts that it may not be possible to cancel or modify an order. Any attempt to cancel or modify an order is simply a request to us to do so. 1Market is not liable to the Client if we are unable to cancel or modify an order. The Client acknowledges and agrees that, if an order cannot be cancelled or modified, he/she is bound by any execution of the original order.

If a corporate event affects a security in your 1Market account, we will use reasonable efforts to adjust the securities in your account in a fair way and which aligns with market practice, depending on each circumstance and according to our sole discretion, although we are not obliged to do this. Adjustments may include altering the price or quantity of securities in your account, to reflect the economic equivalent of such rights.

Adjustments made to the securities in Client's account after a corporate event that created tax liabilities for them. The Company may deduct tax when making these adjustments, however its Clients' responsibility to satisfy these liabilities if we did not make the relevant deduction. We may claim or reclaim tax credits on dividends or other income on securities.

If you are holding securities, for example, shares, which gives the Client the right to receive a dividend or interest payment from a company, presuming that he/she has held such shares prior to and on the relevant ex-dividend date, he/she will be paid this amount into their 1Market account on receipt by us. Unless otherwise agreed, an interest payment or dividend paid on shares held in a custody account may be paid to the Client less any applicable default withholding tax. 1Market is under no obligation or liability to claim back any withheld tax unless otherwise agreed by 1Market and the Client. In case no deduction of any applicable tax was made it will be Client's responsibility to satisfy these liabilities.

In case the underlying market on which Client's security is traded is suspended, Client will not be able to place any sell orders on those securities, and we will not be able to execute any sell orders which Client has already placed on those securities until the market recommences trading. We cannot guarantee that Client's order will be executed immediately when the market recommences trading, and we may be required to wait until there is enough demand to buy their security.

In case that a corporate event results in a fractional entitlement to part of a security, the Company will use reasonable efforts to aggregate those fractional entitlements, sell them and credit your account with a cash value, which may be subject to certain fees and charges. However, the Company is under no obligation to do this.

In case of a corporate event such as partial redemptions, impacts some but not all products held in an Omnibus Account, we will use reasonable endeavours to allocate the products which are affected to relevant clients in a fair way and in accordance with market practice. However, the Company is under no obligation to do this.

In case a security is delisted, or if an issuer of a security goes into insolvency or is dissolved, those securities held in Client's 1Market account will be dealt with in accordance with the terms of the delisting, insolvency or dissolution, as applicable.

The Company has no responsibility to notify the Client of or arrange attendance at any annual general meetings related to their securities, and/or arrange the exercise of any voting rights attaching to securities we hold on their behalf, regardless if it is exercisable at an annual general meeting or not. The company is not responsible to inform the Client of any class action or group litigation that is being taken concerning securities that we are holding on their behalf.

In cases where corporate events impact some but not all securities held in a pooled account, the Company shall allocate the securities which are affected to relevant clients in a fair and equitable manner, according to what we consider is appropriate.

Where the Company holds Client's securities in one or more pooled accounts, Client may receive dividends or distributions net of applicable taxes which have been paid or withheld at rates that are less beneficial than those that might apply if the securities were held in their own name or not pooled.

Effect of termination:

When a Client gives us instructions to close their account and terminate our relationship, we will arrange for their securities to be sold as soon as reasonably possible pursuant to this Client Agreement. We will hold the funds of the sale as client money in an account in Client's name.

The Company has the right to charge fees and any other applicable charges and taxes considered necessary on the sale of Clients securities.

In cases where securities are sold, the Client is responsible for any shortfall may arise between the amount they invested and the amount they get back after the sale of the securities. The Company is not liable for any shortfall that may arise. The Client may suffer upon the sale of their securities. Any shortfall will be borne by the Client.

Due to regulatory requirements imposed by the French Regulatory Authority Autorité des Marchés Financiers for Clients who reside in the territory of France, the Company will limit the maximum losses of each Open Position to the amount of Initial Margin and to this effect the Company will proceed to each Open Positions where the Loss reached the amount of Initial Margin for the specific Positions, without proceeding to any Margin Calls.

According to Applicable Regulations, the Company shall exercise due skill, care and diligence in the selection and appointment and periodic review of the financial institution of the previous paragraph of this Agreement and the arrangements for holding of Private Investor money. The Company takes into account the expertise and market reputation of such institutions with the view of ensuring the protection of Private Investor’s rights, as well as any legal or regulatory requirements or market practices related to holding of Private Investor money that could adversely affect Private Investor’s right. However, it is understood that there are circumstances beyond the control of the Company and hence the Company does not accept any liability or responsibility for any resulting losses to the Client as a result of the insolvency or any other analogous proceedings or failure of the financial institution where Client money will be held.

The legal and regulatory regime applying to any such person outside Cyprus or the EEA will be different from that of Cyprus and in the event of the insolvency or any other equivalent failure of that person, the Private Investor's money may be treated differently from the treatment which would apply if the money was held in a Segregated Account in Cyprus.

The third party to whom the Company will pass money may hold it in an omnibus account and it may not be possible to separate it from the Private Investor's money, or the third party's money. In the event of the insolvency or any other analogous proceedings in relation to that third party, the Company may only have an unsecured claim against the third party on behalf of the Private Investor, and the Private Investor will be exposed to the risk that the money received by the Company from the third party is insufficient to satisfy the claims of the Private Investor with claims in respect of the relevant account.

In the event that the Private Investor wishes to re-activate his/her Trading Account, that is, deposit new funds and/or start trading, within the timeframe during which the Dormant Account administration fee is being applied, we will cease to deduct the Dormant Account Administration Fee, but we will not refund any Dormant Account Administration Fees deducted from the Private Investors Account.

The Company reserves the right to refuse to do business with, to discontinue to do business with, and to reverse the transactions of, Clients who do not accept or conform to the following AML requirements and policies:

Private Investors must provide all requested information upon registration.

When a Client maintains an account by means of bank deposits, profits will only be distributed to the holder of the originating bank account. When making deposits in this manner, it is the responsibility of the trader to ensure that the trader's account number and registered name of the account owner accompany all transfers to the Company.

When a Client funds an account by means of credit/debit card deposits, profits will only be distributed to the individual whose name appears on the card used to make the deposit and only be paid back to the same card.

No profits may be collected on accounts opened where evidence suggests the Client may have used false names.

The Company may, from time to time, in its sole discretion, require a Client to provide additional proof of identity such as notarized copy of passport or other means of identity verification as it deems required under the circumstances and may at its sole discretion suspend an account until such proof has been provided to its satisfaction.

51. CRYPTOCURRENCIES

The Company may, at its sole discretion, offer CFDs on cryptocurrencies for trading from time to time. Cryptocurrencies, when used in this Agreement, unless the context otherwise requires, shall mean a type of decentralized digital currency or asset which is not issued by any central bank or issuer in which encryption techniques are used to facilitate the generation of units of the currency or asset and verify the transfer of units ("Cryptocurrencies").

You hereby acknowledge and accept that Cryptocurrencies are traded on non-regulated decentralized digital exchanges and that there is no specific European regulatory framework governing the trading in Cryptocurrencies. As such, Cryptocurrencies are not recognized as Financial Instruments under MiFID, however Derivatives on Cryptocurrencies are qualifying as financial instruments under the Law and trading in CFDs on Cryptocurrencies falls within the scope of MiFID and of the Company's MiFID regulated activities.

The price formation and price movements of these products depend solely on the internal rules of the particular digital exchange which may be subject to change at any point in time and without prior notice. In this respect, you further acknowledge and accept that this may often lead to wide fluctuation (i.e. high volatility) in the prices of these products.

The market and pricing data on Cryptocurrencies are derived from the digital decentralized exchanges that the Cryptocurrencies are traded on. Due to the fact that the market and data pricing formation rules on Cryptocurrencies, provided by such exchanges, are not subject to any regulatory supervision, they may be subject to changes in the relevant digital exchange's discretion at any time. Likewise, such digital exchanges may introduce trading suspensions or take other actions that may result in the suspension or cessation of trading on such exchanges or the price and market data feed becoming unavailable to us. The above factors could result in material adverse effect on your open positions, including the loss of all of your invested capital. Where a temporary or permanent disruption to or cessation of trading occurs on any digital exchange from which we derive our price feeds for the relevant Cryptocurrency, your positions in such Cryptocurrency will be priced at the last available price for the relevant Cryptocurrency, and you may be unable to close or liquidate your position or withdraw any funds related to such position until the trading on the relevant digital exchange resumes (if at all). You accept that where trading resumes again at either the relevant initial digital exchange or on any successor exchange thereof, there may be significant price differential (price gapping) which may impact the value of your CFD positions in the relevant Cryptocurrencies and result in significant profit or losses. Where trading does not resume, all of your invested capital could potentially be lost. You hereby acknowledge and accept that you have been informed by the Company of and understand this particular risk into account when taking investment decisions in respect of trading CFDs on Cryptocurrencies.

You hereby acknowledge, represent and warrant to us that, when trading in CFDs on Cryptocurrencies, you fully understand the specific characteristics and risks related to these Cryptocurrencies and that trading in Cryptocurrencies and/or in CFDs on Cryptocurrencies is not appropriate for all investors.

52. AUTOMATED TRADING SYSTEMS

Unauthorized automatic or semi-automatic trading systems that are installed by the Client within the browser or on his computer that require no human action to perform will be treated by us as a backdoor Application Performing Interface System and can lead to a closure of the account or to a lifting of the trade. Trades that are realized on that kind can lead to courses that would otherwise not have been and are considered by us as Over-the-Counter trading. This leads to the cancellation of trades made.

53. ABUSIVE TRADING

If the Company reasonably suspects that the Private Investor performed abusive trading such as, but not limited to, pip-hunting, scalping, arbitrage, manipulations or a combination of faster/slower feeds, it may, at its absolute discretion, at any time and without prior Written Notice, take one or more of the following actions:

- a) Terminate this Agreement immediately without prior notice to the Private Investor;
- b) Cancel any Open Positions;
- c) Temporarily or permanently bar access to the Trading Platform or suspend or prohibit any functions of the Trading Platform;
- d) Reject or Decline or refuse to transmit or execute any Order of the Private Investor;
- e) Restrict the Private Investor's trading activity;
- f) In the case of fraud, reverse the funds back to real owner or according to the instructions of the law enforcement authorities of the relevant country;
- g) Cancel or reverse of profits gained through abusive trading or the application of artificial intelligence in the Private Investor Account;
- h) Take legal action for any losses suffered by the Company.

The Company will use reasonable efforts to execute an Order, but it is agreed and understood that despite the Company's reasonable efforts transmission or execution may not always be achieved at all for reasons beyond the control of the Company.

54. GENERAL PROVISIONS

In case any provision of the Agreement is or becomes, at any time, illegal, void or unenforceable in any respect, in accordance with a law and/or regulation of any jurisdiction, the legality, validity or enforceability of the remaining provisions of the Agreement or the legality, validity or enforceability of such provision in accordance with the law and/or regulation of any other jurisdiction, shall not be affected.
